Never pay for bandwidth or a rack again

Shopify's highly distributed, full-featured platform drives down IT hardware and labor costs to a fraction of traditional infrastructure expenses.

Sleep Easy

Your site's availability is handled by our dedicated operations specialists, instead of being isolated and dependent on your own single-instance server. Our sharded and multi-clustered database servers can handle even the least ideal conditions with ease.

Constant upgrades with no interruptions

We're always adding new features and functionality to the platform. Those upgrades happen automatically and quietly, allowing you to continue with business as usual.
